Taggart Brown & Associates was awarded the refurbishment of 22 elevator cabs, escalators, and other ornamental objects of historical significance at the Main Interior Building. The work included the restoration of existing woodwork, brass trim, flooring, and ornamental brass surfaces. This building was occupied and very active during the day, so after-hours work was required to avoid disruption of normal activities. The project owners required that any construction nuisances such as odors, gases, or dust be eliminated by the time building occupants arrived each morning. Construction teams utilized temporary ventilated work spaces that were sealed from the rest of the building to solve this challenge.
