Taggart Brown & Associates was awarded the design build contract to install a glass wall with secure operating doors partition in the historic Department of the Interior headquarters building in Washington, DC. We were selected because of our excellent past performance on projects with DOI including our attention to detail and ease of working through our administrative processes. We conducted a life-safety study to determine all code requirements necessary and had to modify the original intent of the project to meet those requirements. GSA Historical had to approve all aspects of the project (protect the finishes and meet historic features requirements).
